“ Norma was the eldest of my 4 sisters. At age 5, I suffered a horrific accident with a long recovery at which time Norma was staying with us while her husband was off to war. She had nicknamed me John Henry, steel driving man. I can still remember her kind smile and words of encouragement that empowered me during my recovery. She always called me John Henry. My wife and I visited her this past Monday and Hospice was doing a wonderful job keeping her comfortable. Upon leaving, I gave a gentle squeeze to her foot and we briefly saw that kind smile. She will be laid to rest with her mother and 3 sisters that preceded her in death. I will always remember that smile.

Her brother, Johnny Brekle (aka. John Henry)
